Normandy Was Stormed Today 18 Years Ago

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
OMAHA BEACH, France (UPI) — American and French officials paid tribute here today to the Allied troops of World War II who fell 18 years ago on the Normandy beaches as they stormed ashore to launch the invasion of Nazi-held Europe.

American Ambassador James M. Gavin, a paratrooper general in the U. S. Army who landed behind Utah beach to the east with his men that fateful day, headed officials at a visit to the cemetery above the cliffs of Omaha beach where 10,000 American soldiers are buried.

A religious ceremony was held and then Gavin and his wife visited Ste. Mere Eglise, a scene of bitter fighting during the invasion.

Gavin was deputy commander of the American 82nd Airborne Division at that time. Subsequently the town made him an honorary citizen.

His first act upon arriving in the town was to show his wife a hole in the outskirts of the community where he protected himself after dropping by parachute.

Then Gavin laid the cornerstone of the American Forces Museum which is being built there.

Among French dignitaries present was Raymond Triboulet, minister of veterans affairs.

St. Mere Eglise was the first French village to be liberated. Gavin was received by Mayor Jean Masselin in front of the town hall and reviewed a French honor guard. Masselin raised the American flag, a gift from Tom Murphy, a Washington University professor.

The ambassador also offered the original flag of the 505th Airborne Regiment, his own regiment.

"St. Mere Eglise is proud to be the first village in France to have received the American paratroopers," Masselin said. "We consider our town the symbol of the European liberation."

Gavin replied:

"I don't feel as if I am in a foreign country since all the inhabitants of your town are personal friends of mine and it is just like being at home in a village back in the states."

NAME WAS OMITTED

The name of Miss Margaret Rose Bryan was omitted from the Murray High School, semester honor roll published in yesterday's Ledger and Times. Miss Bryan achieved a 2.6 standing out of a possible 3.0 for the last semester at Murray High and her name should have been included.

Taz Mason Was In Five Day Exercise

U. S. FORCES, GERMANY (AHTNC) — Army PFC Taz L. Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Mason, Route 1, Kirksey, Ky., recently participated in Grand Slam I, a five-day Central Army Group (CENTAG) exercise in Germany.

A missile repairman in the 193d Ordnance Detachment in Wackerneim, Mason entered the Army in January 1961, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived overseas the following December.

The 19-year old soldier is a 1960 graduate of South Marshall High School in Benton.

Hal Perry Claims $2,962.02 As Being Unpaid On Building Gym

The Calloway County Fiscal Court has been sued by Hal Perry, general contractor of Benton, Kentucky, in connection with the new Calloway County High School gymnasium.

The suit calls for payment of $2,962.02 to Hal Perry to complete payment on the structure.

County Judge Robert O. Miller said today that the Fiscal Court is being sued because it is the Board of Education. The school board cannot let a contract legally, and since the Fiscal Court let the contract, it is the agency being sued.

The lawsuit came about in the following manner. The gymnasium was contracted to be finished by last May 1 with a clause in the contract that for each day it was not completed a forfeiture of $50.00 would be made.

The school board at first held back $5,600 on final payment, but after a conference with contractors and architect Perry was paid $2800, leaving the sum of $2,962.02 unpaid.

The school board has indicated that the gymnasium was not completed on the scheduled date, therefore funds were withheld. The contractor intimates that the contract calls for an extension for unusual weather conditions during the time of construction. Perry also said that the building was ready for inspection prior to the time it was accepted.

The Fiscal Court, as the agent for the school board, must sell bond issues for the school board, and must handle all contracts, since it is not legal for the school board to do so. The court has acted as a agent for the board throughout the entire construction phase of Calloway High and the new gym there.

The suit will be heard in Circuit Court unless settled prior to that time.

The issue has been discussed in Fiscal Court for the past several months.

Judge Miller appraised the court of the circumstances yesterday in a regular meeting of the court.

In other action by the court a sheriff's settlement was made on remaining 1961 taxes, collected in 1962. These are taxes that were left uncollected because of the change in the sheriff's office.

The court employed Leon Cooper to mail surplus food commodities from Mayfield to Murray.

Ray Herndon was hired for another year as county dog warden and H. H. Ray was named as livestock inspector of the county. Both positions are required by state statutes.

Richard Nixon

Nixon Back On The Victory Road

By JAMES C. ANDERSON
United Press International
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon was back on the victory track today.

The man who narrowly lost the presidency in 1960 won the Republican nomination for governor in Tuesday's primary election by a 2-1 margin. But ahead lies a clash on Nov. 6 against Democratic incumbent Gov. Edmund G. Pat Brown.

Nixon defeated a young conservative, state Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, Brown running against only token opposition, had a much easier time winning the Democratic nod.

Return of Nixon hopes to state's 31,212 precincts gave Nixon 353,249, Shell 173,560. At the same time, Brown ran up 478,568 votes on the Democratic ballot against combined total of 70,533 for his three little-known opponents.

Faces Tough Fight

The 49-year-old former vice president faces a formidable task in the fall. But the rewards are great. Control of a state which in 1963 will be the nation's most heavily populated, plus leadership of a potent political force in 1964 when the presidency once again will be at stake.

California's registration favors Democrats by almost 3-2. The Shell-Nixon results showed a definite cleavage in GOP ranks between conservatives and moderates. Shell, conceding the nomination to Nixon early today, had this to say when asked if he will support Nixon next fall:

"I will support him with me. I stand firm for certain principles of government. I will support any candidate who through action as well as words will espouse these principles of conservatism and will endorse these commitments."

Shell added that if Nixon and Brown debate during the coming campaign "it will be a real pillow fight."

Nixon was jubilant in an appearance in his Los Angeles headquarters in sharp contrast to 1960 when similar surrounds he sadly made a virtual concession to

District In Soil Contest

Calloway County Soil (and Water) Conservation District has entered the 16th annual Goodyear competition to select the nation's top 52 conservation districts, according to Lowell Palmer of Kirksey, Rt. 2, district chairman.

Activities of the district will be weighed against the performance of other districts in the state in determining the outstanding district in the competition sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio.

A committee selected from among the state's outstanding agricultural leaders will name the state winner. Activities during the period from May 1, 1962 through April 30, 1963 will be considered.

Grand award for the 52 districts selected nationally will be an expense paid, vacation-study trip to Arizona in December, 1963, for one member of the district governing body and the individual nominated as outstanding cooperators in each winning district.

The 104 men selected will be guests at Goodyear Farms, a 14,000-acre general farm operation on the Arizona desert near Phoenix.

District supervisors are: Lowell Palmer, Chmn. B. H. Dixon, V. Chmn., Marvin Hill, Purdom Lassiter and Harvey Ellis.

Mr. Palmer said the district's outstanding cooperators will be selected from among the 1,000 farm operators enrolled in the district program. Nationally, about 1,800,000 farmers in 2,900 districts will be eligible for the grand award trip.

Stubblefield Blocks Closing Of Outwood

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Veterans Administration Hospital at Outwood, Ky., got a brief new lease on life Tuesday as Rep. Frank Stubblefield, D-Ky., blocked a decision to close it pending an appeal.

Kentucky veterans groups have urged that the hospital be retained to house ill veterans, although Va officials term it an "inefficient operation."

Stubblefield said representatives of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars plan to meet with W. J. Driver, deputy administrator of the VA, within a few days.

There have been frequent proposals by the federal agency within recent years to close the institution, but veterans groups thus far have been successful in keeping it open.

But To House 400 to 500

The hospital, built to house 400 to 500 tuberculosis patients, has declined from a peak of 375 in 1947 to 85 today.

Kentucky officials have requested that Outwood be turned over to the state to be used as a 500-bed home for the mentally retarded.

Driver said Tuesday, "We thought of declaring Outwood surplus by the end of the week, until I talked to Congressman Stubblefield today. We are still holding ourselves open to any serious overtures that anyone wants to make on the subject."

Driver added that the three major veterans groups already have consulted with him and that the decision to close the hospital near Dawson Springs, Ky., would not be changed "unless we hear something new."

Driver described Outwood as "an inefficient operation" with a per-patient cost the highest of any veterans hospital in the nation — $44.10 per day compared with a national average of $10.11.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK
The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 174 Through coincidence, probably, "Charlie Hart" was the alias of the Confederate bushwhacker, William Clarke Quantrill, the gambler, petty thief and ne'er-do-well who roved Kansas and Missouri with his gang, 1862-64. Hart was the real name of a more notable bushwhacker in 1862—Nancy, a copper-haired, sometime leader of forays in West Virginia and Virginia.

Nancy figured first in the guerrilla warfare that accompanied the separation of West Virginia from Virginia, as the companion of Capt. Perry Conley, a Confederate partisan. After Conley was cornered and killed late in 1861, Nancy married one of the band, Joshua Douglas, and was a leader in continuing its effectiveness. She repeatedly assumed the role of an innocent country girl to penetrate Union Army lines and gain information helpful to Conley's old troop.

Once, when her activities became so detestable that she was placed in custody at Summersville, W. Va., Nancy utilized her feminine charm so effectively while awaiting trial that guards became lax. She got possession of a guard's gun, shot him dead, and escaped on the fast horse of the commander of the Summersville forces.

She returned to Summersville with a Confederate force—Virginia Mounted Infantry under Maj. Augustin Bailey. She had observed the habits of the 9th Infantry, U.S.A., in Summersville well. The lieutenant colonel of the regiment was among the captives taken in the surprise raid, in which the regimental supply train was destroyed.

Nancy survived other ventures in the war to live until her sixties; she died in 1902, a grandmother. —CLARK KINNAID

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The old lady was really smiling, a painted dowager consigned to impoverished loneliness whose friends suddenly appeared just as if they hadn't been away five years.

For more than a half century hers had been the salon of baseball greatness. Then they deserted her to the pigeons and the lowly company of occasional minor events.

But they turned back the clock for the ancient Polo Grounds Wednesday.

It was as if they had never been away. For it was New York against the Dodgers and it didn't matter that the home forces were called the "Mets" nor that those who once trekked from across the river now had commuted all the way from a city called Los Angeles.

It was just like old times. There were 35,704 in the crowd the old lady embraced with memorable fondness — the eighth largest she ever entertained and one so obviously divided with its thunderous cheers and lustily belittled roars of disdain for both sides.

"Go back home, you bums," they shouted when those Dodgers clattered down the cleat-pitted narrow steps from the antique clubhouse in centerfield.

"Yeah, you Dodgers," their derisive but still loyal legions clamored in the counter-balance which hadn't been heard since they went away the last time in 1957.

Seven Remain Active There were only seven of them still active with the Dodgers who remembered when, Duke Snider, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax, Jim Gilliam, John Roseboro, and Ed Roebuck. And, along with them, manager Walt Alton and Leo Durocher, the coach they call "The Lip."

There were others among the home forces — Gil Hodges, Charley Neal, Roger Craig, coach Cookie Lavagetto and wrinkled Casey Stengel, who preceded all of them in these precincts and led the return.

"Hasn't changed a bit," snapped Durocher. "They've always booed me here and I hear that old music."

"I never thought I'd see this place again," grinned Snider. "Those two-run fights to see who takes the hit in that big outfield. When they moved I said a prayer of thanks that I'd never had to play here again. Why? Well, every time I look out there I see Willie Mays catching a long drive."

"You can't never tell what's gonna happen," interjected Neal.

Mays Arrives Friday Certainly Mays wasn't on hand yet. He's playing out of San Francisco with those Giants who abandoned the old lady. But he'll be back to see the old girl on Friday night.

Hodges, who plays with the home forces now, looked around and admitted it always kind of liked this place. "He proved it by hitting three home runs in the doubleheader, for a career total of 369 which puts him in a 10th-place tie with Ralph Kiner in the all-time home run derby."

There even were two of the old Dodgers on hand to pitch batting practice. Big Joe Black, now a high school teacher in New Jersey, and Ralph Branca, an insurance executive.

"I won't be able to comb my hair tomorrow but it was worth it," Branca sweated.

The pilgrimage turned out bad for the home forces, something

Stan The Man Reaches Another Milestone As He Slams Out His 450th Home Run

By FRED DOWN

Stan Musial has reached another milestone — and typically the event meant more to his St. Louis Cardinal teammates than to the great slugger.

The occasion was the 450th homer of Stan's career — a total reached by only five other major leaguers — but its chief value lay in the fact that it finally broke the Cardinals' eight-game plunge out of National League pennant contention.

The homer came in the 11th inning of Tuesday night's game with the Cincinnati Reds and lifted the Cardinals to a 10-9 victory after they had trailed by eight runs going into the bottom of the sixth inning. Musial had contributed two other hits to the Cardinals' attack but it remained for him to connect for the payoff blow against reliever Dave Sisler.

In what may be his final season, the 41-year old Musial now is hitting .317 with six homers and 24 runs batted in. He looks headed for his best season since 1958 when he last batted more than 300.

Giants Beat Cubs The San Francisco Giants walloped the Chicago Cubs, 11-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, and led, 7-3, when the second game of the two-night doubleheader was suspended after eight innings, and the Houston Colts defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 7-1, in other NL action.

In the American League, the Baltimore Orioles scored a 6-5 victory over the Washington Senators; the Kansas City Athletics edged the Minnesota Twins, 4-3, and the Chicago White Sox topped the Los Angeles Angels, 9-5.

Bob Purkey, seeking to become the majors' first 10-game winner of the season, carried a 9-1 lead into the sixth inning only to have the roof fall in. The Cardinals roughed him up for three runs in the sixth and then added five more in the seventh with the key blows a three-run homer by Bill White and a two-run homer by Ken Boyer.

Lindy McDaniel, sixth St. Louis pitcher and the only one to go more than 2 1/2 innings, shut out the Reds for the last four innings to pick up his second victory while Sisler suffered his second defeat.

Huris Five-Hitter Billy O'Dell pitched a five-hit like Halloween in a haunted house, when they dropped both games. But the old lady was smiling.

There was a lot of Auld Lang Syne as she drew the largest crowd of the entire baseball season to date.
